

Dr. Rubina Möhring

Historian, journalist, moderator.

Representative of the international NGO Reporters Without Borders in Austria. Weekly Blog press freedom watchdog on derstandard.at. Founder of the magazine press.freedom.now – periodical for free information.

Candidate for the Head of the OSCE Institution Representative on Freedom of the Media, nominated by the Austrian government in 2009. Founder of the Press Freedom Award – A Signal for Europe for the support of democratically orientated journalism in eastern and south-eastern Europe, a prize awarded since 2002 in Vienna.

Longtime TV journalist and Representative of the Austrian Broadcasting Corporation ORF at the tri-national TV-channel 3sat. Since 2010 independent journalist and writer. Co-founder and moderator of the monthly TV-Talk Media-Quartett at okto-tv, Austria.

Longtime University lecturer on journalistic studies at the Universities of Vienna, Innsbruck and the postgraduate Danube University Krems. Topics: Quality Journalism, Woman in the Media, Current Media-Analysis.

Numerous books and publications on socio-political matters and media politics, published in international newspapers and professional journals. Most recent book is Asylum is a trap (Die Asylfalle), published in 2011 in Vienna.

Born in Berlin and living in Vienna she is the mother of two children.